▲ Florida public television audiences in 14 markets will get a sneak preview next month of a new documentary film, In Marjorie's Wake, by Equinox Documentaries. The film follows the seven-day trip of local writer and teacher Leslie Poole and Jacksonville resident Jennifer Chase in which they retraced the St. Johns River journey of Florida author Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings and pioneer Dessie Smith. Rawlings wrote about her and Smith's experiences in her book of essays, Cross Creek. The film will be released to a national PBS audience next year. But Orlando-area residents can get the earliest look at its premier on November 14 at the Enzian Theater in Maitland.
